BIG FEATURE AT TEMPLE TODAY

"Soldiers of Fortune" will be the feature at the Temple theater today. The tense, gripping, startling sensations one experiences in reading the book, have been transferred to the screen in this Mayflower-Realiart production. Take Buffalo Bill's world's congress of rough riders augmented by the dare-devil riders of the 101 Ranch Wild West show, and add to this the men who make one's hair stand on end by their fearless riding in circuses and rodeos and you will have some conception of the horsemanship encountered in the course of the filming of "Soldiers of Fortune." Four hundred horsemen, recruited from the ranks of the best riders of the plains and from Mexicans who had fought through many campaigns with Villa, Obregon, Zapata, Carranza and other insurrectionary leaders, thundered over the rough mountain trails, while 1,500 men on foot added to the thrills of what is one of the most realistic "spectacle scenes" ever enacted before a motion picture camera.

MARGUERITE CLARK AT LINCOLN TODAY.
Marguerite Clark will appear at the Lincoln today and Friday in her latest photoplay, "Three Men and a Girl," a picture of Edward Childs Carpenter's play of "The Three Bears," which scored a decisive hit in New York in October, 1917. In this charming picture Miss Clark appears as Sylvia Weston, a young woman who rebels against her proposed wedding with a rich old man whom she hated, and who later comes in contact with three bear-like men who hate woman-kind. She subsequently brings them to her feet by the magic of her personality and charm.

The photoplay is one of exceptional interest and it affords Miss Clark another delightful role.
